PROTECT US BY THY MIGHT"

T WITH FREEDOM'S HOLY LIGHT!
T, GREAT GOD, OUR KING!"

"O Freedom! if to me belong
Nor mighty Milton's gift divine
Nor Marvell's wit and graceful song,
Still with a love as deep and strong
As theirs, I lay, like them, my best gifts on thy shrine!"

THE FUTURE SECURITY OF FREEDOM IS OUR RESPONSIBILITY

Through conscientious training for worthy leadership, through education for character, knowledge, and a well-rounded intelligence, through the inculcation of democratic ideals in everyday experiences, we shall be able to fortify the great freedoms that are our most priceless possessions.

Thus only shall we be able to keep faith with every young man of Edmunds High School who so gloriously laid down his life for freedom in World War II.

If ever the world needed men trained for worthy leadership, it needs them now, and it will need them tomorrow. The schools are the workshops where such training has its beginning

Under careful guidance the youth of America must keep an open mind, find out what is happening, and understand issues. They must learn to think clearly and to express their thoughts fearlessly. They must learn self reliance through certainty of knowledge and initiative through faith in the cause of right

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

If the future security of freedom rests with us, the training for such responsibility rests, in turn, indirectly with the board of education; for it is the chief concern of the board to employ a faculty well equipped to give unerring guidance and true instruction.

In this way the board of education builds tomorrow's Sumter.

Our board is composed of seven members from the city and three from the county. Those from the city are Dr. C. J. Lemmon, Chairman; Mr. E. C. Dunn; Mrs. W. A. McElveen; Mr. F. M. Moise; Mr. H. G. Osteen; Mr. S. L. Roddey; Mr. Earle Rowland. Those from the county are Mr. George L. Mabry; Mr. Marion Myers; Mr. H. D. Shuler.

These ten outstanding citizens of our city and county represent a cross section of our business and vocational community, and therefore they are well able to serve all of the people.

Under the able administration of Mr. Crow, Edmunds High School has carried through to a highly successful conclusion her first program of work under the new twelve-year system. The advantages of such a system have been clearly proved, and to Mr. Crow belongs much of the credit for the understanding and cooperation of the community and for the high quality of success obtained by the Class of '18.

COVINGTON PARHAM
President of the Student Body

For two years "Poss" has filled the highest position which the school offers to any boy or girl the position of president of the student body, and no greater praise can be given to him than the statement of the fact that he remains as high in the hearts of the students today as he was two years ago when he was first elected. His character, leadership, scholarship, and athletics combined to make him a power for good in Edmunds High.

Another year "Poss" will be gone, but his influence will persist.

Through the operation of a school supply room in the cafeteria and the handling of all concessions at athletic games the council makes its money. This year, besides the cabinet and the homeroom gifts, the council was able to purchase a movie screen and light proof curtains for the little theater, to make a loan of $150 to the F. F. A. Club, and to add $200 to the Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The small student council is composed of the student body officers, the class officers, and the committee chairmen. Their duties are executive. They meet twice a month, and a faculty adviser always meets with them. The large student council is composed of the small council and the homeroom presidents. This group also has two regular meetings each month the purpose of which is to reach, through their presidents, all homerooms in the school, informing the homerooms what the council is doing and conveying to the council the wishes of the homerooms.

Perhaps the best thing that the student council did in the past two years was to propose a kind of honor system. The proposal was discussed by the school in a series of student body meetings, and it was finally agreed to give it a trial, which has proved to be quite a success. It is a system of individual responsibility for order in the halls, in the cafeteria, at athletic events, and at school assemblies. It is forming habits of thoughtfulness, courtesy, and reverence throughout the school.

School Life

Science cannot receive too much attention in the high school if we are to "safeguard the future of our nation." The study of chemistry and physics in high school may lead to intensive research work in college and university; it may pave the way for scientific progress that will save the lifeblood of the world.

BUSINESS

Business courses in high school are popular not only with boys and girls who intend to go to work immediately after receiving their diplomas, but also with many who intend to go to college. General office practice is one of the most valuable parts of the course.

School Life

Vocations, an important part of the high school curriculum, attract more and more students every year. Many of the boys and girls become quite skillful in their chosen work. Some even realize a nice profit from the work done while they are learning to do it. All of these vocations are significant factors for economic freedom.

ART AND HOME ECONOMICS

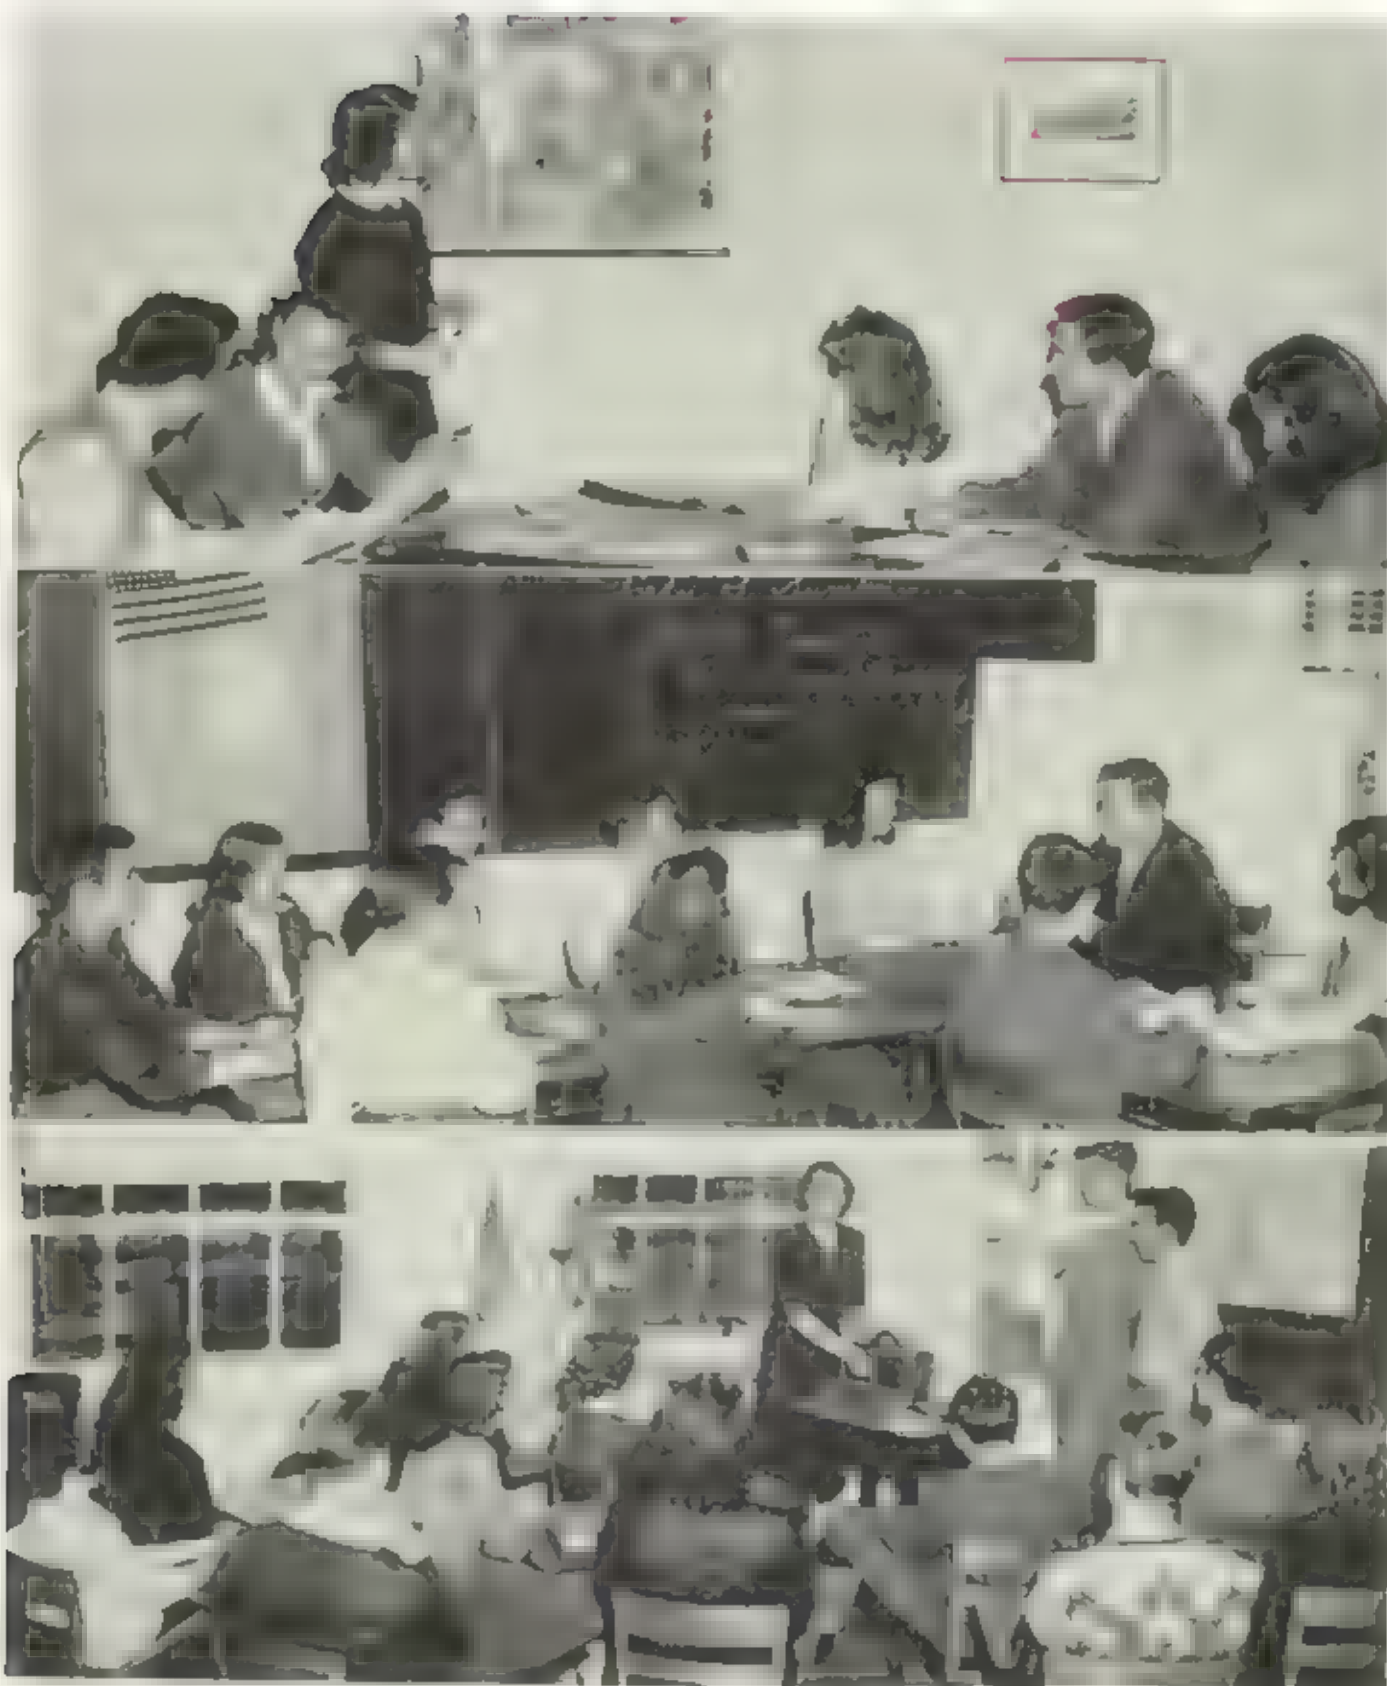

Art is a subject that affects directly or indirectly every student in Edmunds High School. The art department makes school posters; it decorates for school entertainments; it sets the stage for plays and assembly programs. Its exhibits are always inspiring. Home Economics is very helpful to girls who choose this course. They learn sewing, cooking, buying and budgeting, interior decoration, what to wear, etiquette for all occasions.

WORK EXPERIENCES

The diversified occupations program is a type of part time education for girls and boys. The students are required to work at least twenty hours each week. The program is a cooperative one between the school and the employers in the community.

It operates as follows: Students in the last two years of high school, who have reached the age of sixteen and have good character and work habits, are allowed to work in business establishments, industries, and trades of the community and to receive school credit for their work."

The practical experience is secured on a real job. The school gives related instruction to the students participating in the program specifically in the trade or occupation in which each is working.

The school gives one unit of credit for the work experience and one unit for the related instruction.

Other courses in the school must be taken to complete the requirements for graduation.

A majority of the social affairs for the teen-agers, including square dances and after-the-football games gatherings at the canteen, "coke" and ice cream parties at school, and a number of the senior parties, are informal.

Informal square dances are held at the canteen the first Saturday night in every month. "Coke" and ice cream parties are popular in the various homerooms. Often these are rewards for outstanding interest and effort in school activities.

Among the formal affairs at school, the Junior-Senior stands out as the one which no girl or boy will ever forget. For weeks beforehand the juniors keep the big secret of the entertainment program from prying seniors. Dates are made. New frocks and new suits are bought. And after aeons of waiting the time arrives. Better than one's dreams! That's Junior-Senior!

THE CROWNING DAY OF OF THE YEAR

THE IRIS QUEEN!

In May, when the iris gardens are in bloom, Edmunds High School holds an iris festival. It is a beautiful event! Many lovely girls take part.

One is chosen queen!

If America is to make her own freedom secure and remain a power for the freedom of the world, it will have to be through an educated citizenry

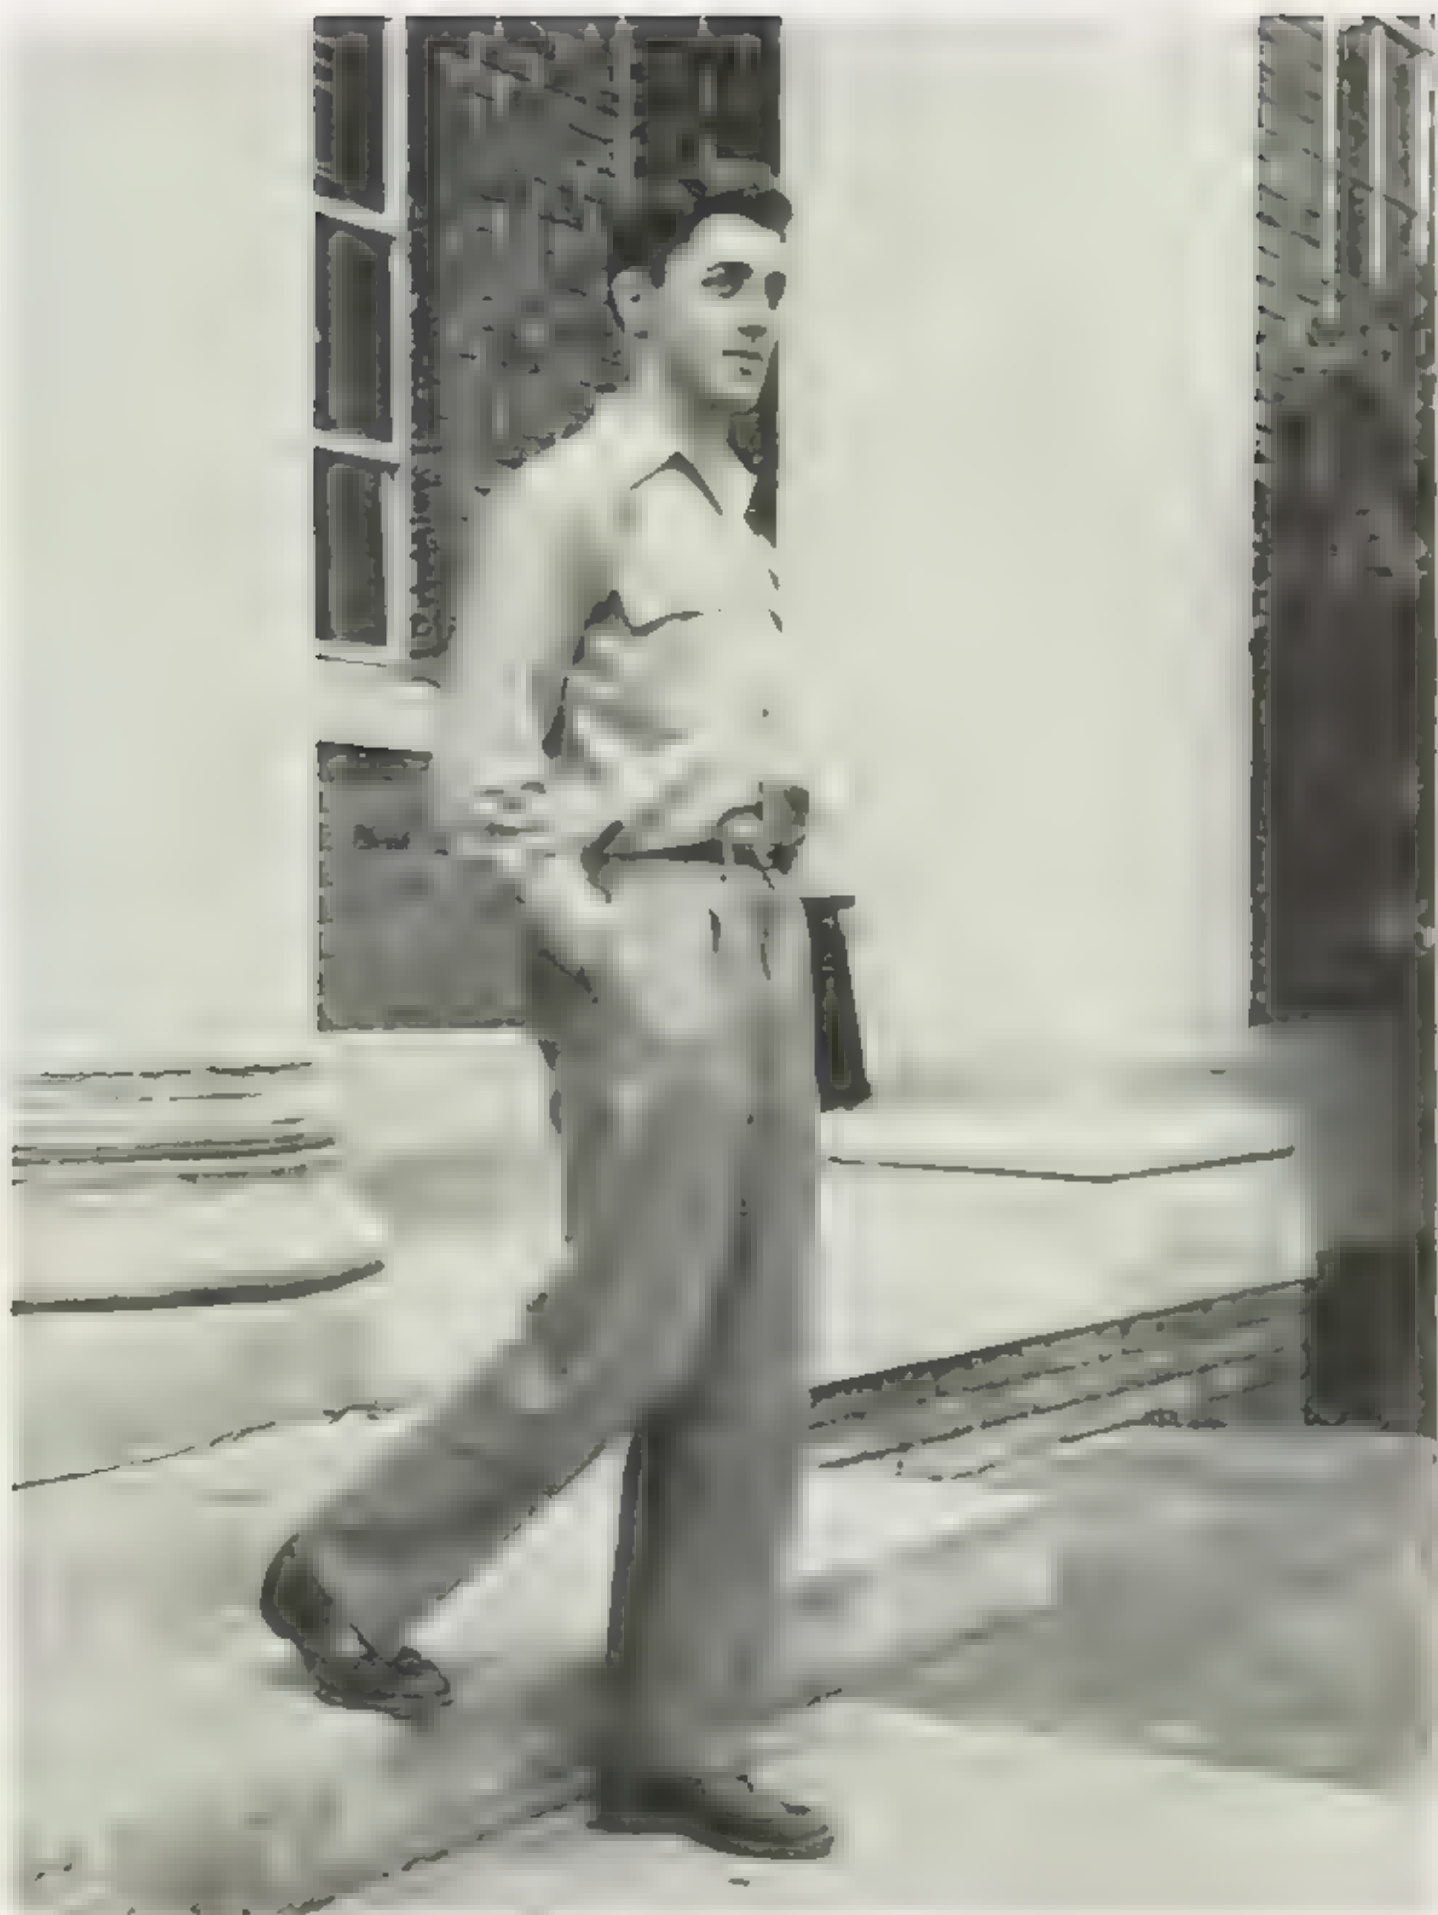

Education for knowledge is, of course, fundamental, but it is not all. There must be education for intelligence, with which to meet problems and crises and win friends for the right. There must be education for character, the basis of which is religion, but which comprises besides religion a vision and a purpose and the stability to hold to that purpose come what may

RICHARD DWIGHT
President of the Senior Class

Three times in high school Richard was elected to positions of great responsibility and got results. This year, as president of the senior class, he has led the class to the first twelfth place finish in the state. Being president of the senior class Richard has led the class to the first place in the state in all major sports in the school system. Outside of school he was a member of the Hi-Y Club for the past three years.

THE OFFICERS OF THE SENIOR CLASS

With Pear, Lad, George, and Richard at the head of it, the senior class achieved all of the goals customarily set for graduating classes, such as the annual assembly, an iris festival and . . . sixteen units.

From being the twelfth grade to being all twelfth grades, the boys and girls of the senior class walked in unispecty at all times, so much so that they won for themselves a new privilege, the privilege of going to lunch a few minutes earlier than the rest of the school and therefore of having first place in lunch line.

But life for the seniors was not all routine work and play that was mapped out for them. In a roomy room, these seemingly carefree young people close as for them for their annual The Future Security of Our Freedoms, and out of grateful hearts that freedom still is ours, they decided to make a gift to their school of a bronze plaque to place honoring those boys of Edmunds High School who "dared to die that freedom might live."

Homeroom 206 took as their special project this year Thanksgiving and Christmas. Through the efforts of the city and the community, the students all brought gifts which consisted principally of food and clothing. Through book and toy were added to the Christmas collection, and money contributions came in line for miscellaneous needs of individual families.

There is nothing finer in the school than the work of the Junior Red Cross. This was the special project of homeroom 109 this year. It was a work of love for humanity. For example, scores of European children, wretched and hopeless, had bright packages at Christmas time, sent to them by the Junior Red Cross. These packages contained handkerchiefs, tooth brushes, combs, hair clamps, paper, crayons, and other simple gifts. Best of all they contained Christmas cheer for children.

INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING AND GOOD WILL

The members of homeroom 106 this year had the good fortune to be closely associated with Miss Nuala Heer, who came from Buxton, Ireland, to their homeroom to give talks as well as in class work, through the study of Irish literature and the Irish language, by means of stories and of moving picture films. She, and in various other ways, has helped to bring to the attention of the students under Miss Heer's guidance Ireland's great history and culture.

will "strike twelve" every time!

It happened to us four years ago—the blow. Our school went unquestionably and unalterably under the twelve-year system!

At that time we were just graduating from junior high school and we had pictured Edmonds High as a sort of miracle that would enable us to realize all of our young dreams. Now at the thought of an added year in high school there came another picture—June 1, 1948, a kind of nightmare that mocked our old age as we hobbled across the stage at last to receive our diplomas.

That was four years ago.

June 1, 1948, came, and still "our hearts were young and gay."

We were proud to be the first twelfth grade graduates. The more difficult work had been more readily and clearly understood because the mind was more mature. The average student had done more thorough and self-satisfying work because it was enhanced by the press of time. All had gained a maturer outlook on life and an added self-confidence so necessary in business to those who were finishing school, and so important in college to those who would be called upon to keep pace with other twelfth grade graduates from all over the country as each worked away in his chosen field.

FREEDOM OF EDUCATION

If the youth of America are to become the bulwark of her freedoms, all school activities should implant democratic ideals and provide democratic experiences in the lives of the students

The more activities offered by a school, the better the chance to reach every individual through his own particular need, and the better the opportunity for leaders to become steeped in the American way of living through participation in more than one. A busy activity period, and happy, is a healthy sign for our future freedoms

MITTS AND BATS 1947

The 1947 baseball Cameroons had a most successful season although they did not successfully defend their 1946 title as AA State Champions.

The team, under the able tutelage of Coach H. N. Hutchinson, swept to nine victories against three defeats, winning over Hartsville, Darlington, Dreher and Bishopville twice each and over Columbia once, and losing once to Columbia and twice to the powerful North Charleston Blue Devils who later swept to the AA State Championship by going undefeated throughout the entire season.

The starting lineup usually consisted of Captain Bruce Reynolds behind the plate, Richard Dwight or Jimmie Robinson at first, "Pedro" Martin at the keystone position, Alfred Murrell at the hot corner and Ellis Beard at short. In the outfield there were Kirby Jackson in right, big Jack Brunson in center and "Boss" Parham in left.

Sumter's able pitching staff was led by little Junior Southall, the Cameroons' curve-ball artist. He was assisted in his chores by Wiley Lowder, "Spec" Brown, and left-hander Claude Pritchard, who was lost midway of the season due to an injury.

When this write-up went to press, things were looking good for Coach's Larry Wedon and Hutchinson as about three men from last year's team were back and several promising rookies were on hand to fill these vacancies.

Fullback Bill Baldwin was a star player throughout the season, with his steamroller line bucking and his bonesmashing tackling. He came through with the high score of 48 points to his credit.

Richard Dwight, at the end position, gave stellar performance in every game, with his uncanny pass snagging, his fine defensive play, and his cool head. Dwight was always there one hundred per cent.

These two boys in close cooperation led the 1947 Gamecocks through a highly successful season.

After weeks of hard practice the Sumter Gamecocks opened their 1947 football season with a bang, by defeating the Lake City Auctioneers in a thrilling and hard-fought contest at the Fairgrounds Stadium, by the tune of 26 to 0.

The Gamecocks' dazzling "T" Formation plays and passing attack were too much for the Tobacco Town boys, with "Boss" Parham and Jack Chandler connecting up time after time with Kirby Jackson and Richard Dwight for long gains. Bill Baldwin did most of the line cracking behind the fighting Sumter line men, Murrell, Baker, Saffold, Shuler, Rivers, Martin, Herring, Doug Brunson, and Robert Brunson.

Next came the Gamecocks' heartbreaking defeat at the hands of their long but friendly rivals, the Camden Bulldogs, by the slim margin of 6 to 0.

The teams had fought on an even basis throughout the entire contest until the opening minutes of the fourth quarter, when Gene Barner, Camden's All State halfback, took the ball on a triple reverse and raced thirty-seven yards for the only score of the game.

The lines of both teams deserve much credit for their play in this game, and they added greatly to the assets accumulated by both clubs during the fracas.

SUMTER DEFEATS CHARLESTON 20 TO 13

Sumter's boys won their first game of the season when they defeated Charleston 20 to 13. The game was played at Sumter on Saturday afternoon. The Gamecocks scored in the first and third quarters with Garrison going through the line for the first, and Dwight snaring an aerial for the second. Chandler added the conversion. Charleston scored in the second and fourth quarters due largely to the work of their flashy back, A. L. Curtis, and gigantic tackle, Harold Pridmore, who besides playing a good game in the line, added his team's conversions.

Hutchinson took their boys into the upstate only to return defeated by the Gaffney High Cherokees 20 to 13.

Gaffney tallied in the second and fourth quarters due largely to the work of their flashy back, A. L. Curtis, and gigantic tackle, Harold Pridmore, who besides playing a good game in the line, added his team's conversions.

The following week the Gamecocks bounced back into the win column when they journeyed to Darlington to defeat the scrappy Blue Devils 25 to 13 before a small crowd of rain-drenched spectators.

Co-Captain Bill Baldwin scored two of the Gamecock tallies and Jackson and Dwight each had one to his credit. Jack Chandler's kicking was one of the high lights of the game as was the running of Stokes and Dennis of Darlington.

The following week the terrible hammer of fate struck another decisive blow against the Gamecocks by letting them go down again in defeat at the hands of the undefeated Greenwood Emeralds 21 to 7.

Kirby Jackson accounted for Sumter's only touchdown on a screen pass. Jack Chandler was good for the extra point.

Sonny Horton, Hootie Johnson, and Cook were the tally makers for the Emeralds, with each scoring on spectacular plays.

The following week the Gamecocks, with the aid of a new spirit of determination, again returned to the win column by defeating the Charleston Bantams 20 to 7 before a small crowd of loyal fans.

Moscoe Johnson, Jack Chandler, and Kirby Jackson behind the leading Sumter runner scored for the Gamecocks, with Chandler also adding two extra points.

Charleston, with the aid of penalties and one long run scored in the fourth quarter.

The next game was the high light of the entire season, when the Gamecocks defeated the defending state champions, the Rock Hill Bearcats, 14 to 13, in Rock Hill.

Both Gamecock tallies came in the first half due to their now-feared passing attack, with Jack Chandler doing most of the tossing. The first score came midway of the first quarter when Bud Rivers recovered a Bearcat fumble.

At the opening of the second quarter the Gamecocks found opportunity waiting for them again and seized it after a host of Sumter line-men led by Baker, Saffold, Rivers, and Brinson broke through and recovered another Cat fumble. After several plays failed, Jack Chandler tossed an aerial into the waiting arms of Co Captain Richard Dwight in the end zone for six points. Then the play that spurred victory for the Gamecocks came when Chandler kicked the extra point.

Rock Hill did not score in the first half but began to go to work in the two remaining quarters with their first score coming in the third quarter after it had been set up by several long runs by Neely, Dickerson and Jackson and a pass interception. Dickerson accounted for the score but the extra point failed.

The final Bearcat score came in the last quarter, when Dickerson passed to Gettys of Rock Hill in the end zone. Dickerson also added the extra point on a line buck.

Then came the worst defeat of the season for the Gamecocks, when the powerful North Charleston Blue Devils came to town and trampled the Gamecocks by the large score of 34 to 0.

The Devils continued their victorious march after leaving Sumter and went undefeated for the entire season. They were later declared champions of the two Carolinas and Georgia.

The next week the Gamecocks got back into the win column to stay when they defeated the Orangeburg High Indians in a battle of formations 28 to 0 in Orangeburg.

Bill Baldwin accounted for two of the Gamecock touchdowns and Kirby Jackson and Moscoe Johnson each had one to his credit. Jack Chandler, despite the wet condition of the playing field made and four conversions with the help of the Sumter line which was now playing as they had been expected to play for the entire season.

The Gamecocks returned home the following week and tasted victory again when they defeated the Anderson High eleven 19 to 0 before a fairly large sized crowd at the local stadium.

Then on the following Wednesday, which was Thanksgiving Eve, came the long awaited battle of arch rivals when the Florence Yellow Jackets came to town, only to return to the Pee Dee city with another defeat, of 20 to 0, making it 18 years in a row that the Florentines have failed to emerge victorious from a contest with Sumter.

The line play of both teams was outstanding but the Gamecock forwards showed superiority throughout. This fact along with the famous Gamecock aerial attack were the main factors in the victory.

Baldwin, Jackson, and Chandler were the TD makers for Sumter with all three scoring on beautifully executed "T" Formation plays. Chandler also added the two extra points.

This victory brought to a close the football season of 1947 for Edmunds High, in a grand style. Despite their losses and their mistakes which were few, the Gamecocks had a hard fighting and clean team and two of the finest coaches anywhere. They played Jack Chandler in the Shrine Game at Charlotte, N. C.

CAPTAIN CHANDLER

Known and feared throughout the state for his superior play on the basketball court was Jack Chandler, captain of the Sumter Gamecocks during the past season.

He led the '47-'48agers to the highest peak this year, the winning of the South Carolina Class AA Basketball Tournament, and was always one of the top scorers himself.

At the end of the season, Jack was placed on the All State Team for the third consecutive year.

GAMECOCKS WIN STATE CLASS AA BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Sumter High School Basketeers concluded their 1947-48 basketball season by winning 13 out of 14 games in interscholastic competition.

This season was the best season the Gamecocks have had in several years, with Captain Buck Chandler, Bill Baldwin, Richard Dwight Kirby Jackson, and Laddie Owens making up a hard fighting and winning team. Much credit should be given to the Birds' second string who saw much action and backed up the first stringers throughout the season. (The season's scores follow the detailed account of the tournament games.)

At the end of the regular season came the South Carolina Class AA Invitational Basketball Tournament.

In the opening game, on February 25, the Camden Bulldogs pulled a big upset by defeating the much-favored Dreher Blue Devils 31 to 28.

In the second game of the afternoon, Bishop England took an easy victory over the Conway Green Waves, 43 to 16.

The first game Thursday night saw Spartanburg take an easy win over the Yellow Jackets of Florence 13 to 21.

Sumter and Greenwood ended the first round of the tournament with Sumter on top 35 to 26. It was a close game until the last quarter, when the Gamecocks went ahead with

The Gamecocks ran over the Spartanburg Red Birds in the semi-finals Friday night by the score of 44 to 25. Sumter sharpshooters were Chandler and Owens.

Spartanburg won a close contest over Camden Saturday night to take the coast, 19 to 20.

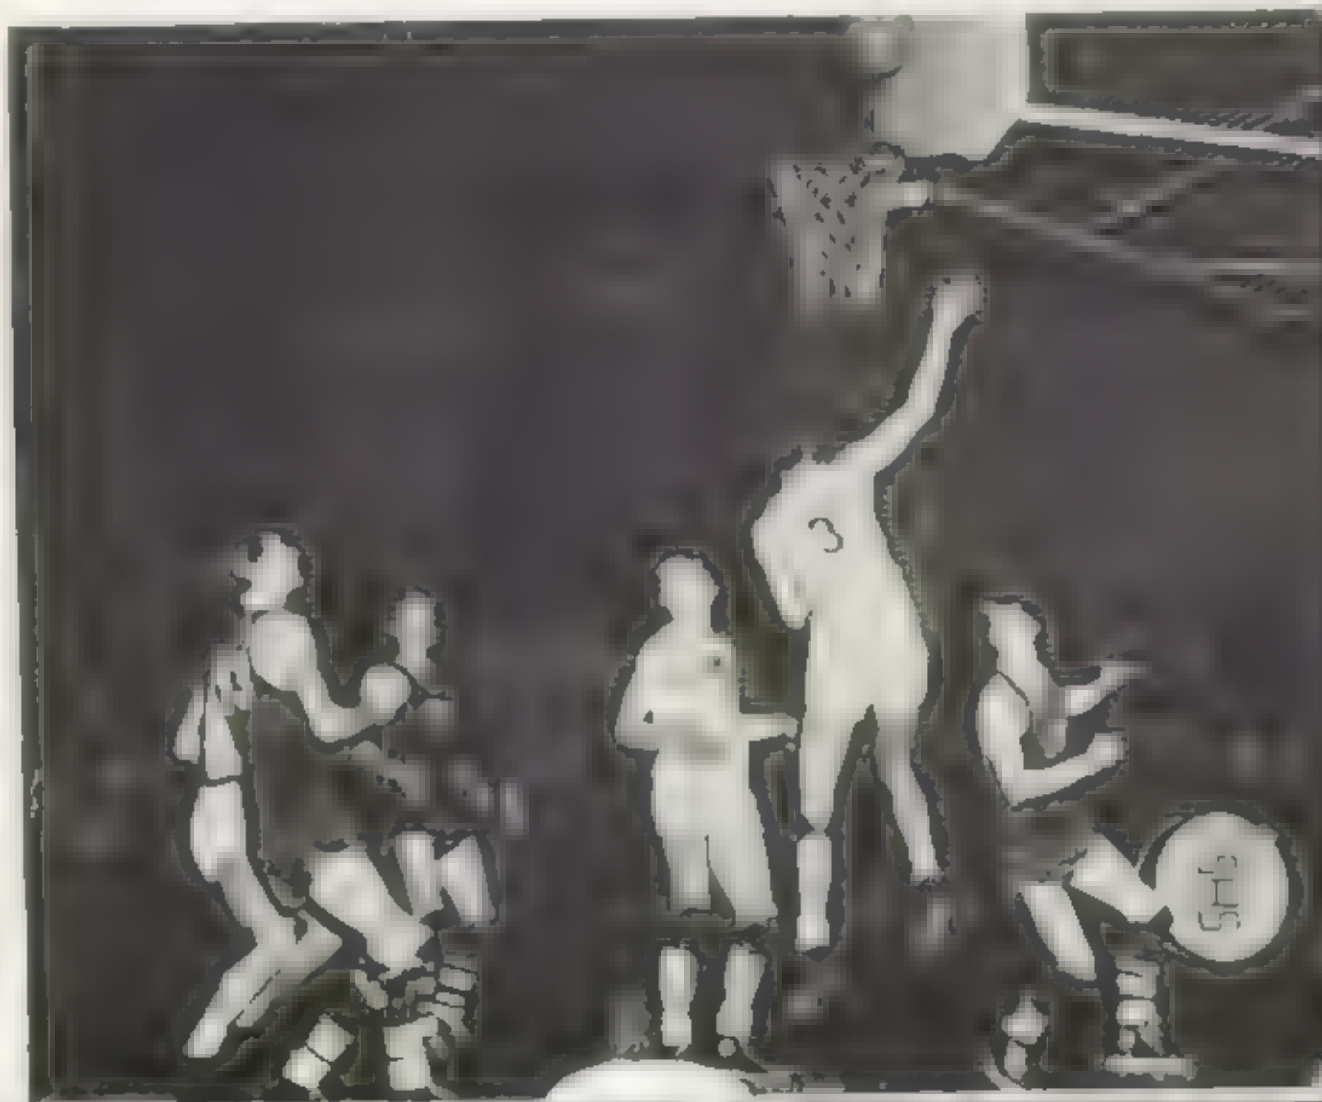

In the final game of the tournament Saturday night between Sumter and Bishop England Sumter played their best game of the year and emerged victorious. This game was a thriller and had the spectators on the edge of their seats from beginning to end. The Gametocks took an early lead but the Bishops came up to tie the score 9 all at the end of the first quarter.

The first half ended with the scoreboard reading 20 to 17 in favor of the Bishops. However, the Gamecocks came back fighting and with Baldwin, Broadwell and Dwight feeding them the ball, Chandler, Jackson, and Owens steadily swished the meshes to ring up the close score of 32 to 28.

Four of Sumter's players made the All-Tournament team. Kirby Jackson, Jack Chandler and Laddie Owens made places on the first team, and Bill Baldwin paced on the second. Johnny LaTorre and Billy McPherson made up the rest of the first team.

SPRING SPORTS

Spring sports this year included tennis, badminton, softball and archery for the outdoors on fine days, and ping-pong and basketball for indoor recreation in bad weather. The girls met two afternoons a week for practice. A chairman and team captains were chosen for each sport. Only those who attended the required number of practices, according to the G. A. A. rules, would be eligible for the intra-mural tournament which had not been played when this write-up went to press. It promised to be good, however, judging by the interest and enthusiasm of the many girls from all of the classes that simply swarmed out for spring sports.

Three hours a week during activity period the boys of Edmunds High participate in military drill. This year drill was under the supervision of Mr. Larry Coker, a former major in the United States Army.

The purpose of this military drill is to give the boys a general idea of what military training is like and to teach them the fundamentals of close order drill. It also teaches leadership and discipline.

This year the boys were divided by classes into four companies. All officers for the organization came from the senior class, the high non-commissioned officers from the junior class, and squad leaders and guides from the sophomore class. Freshmen were privates.

The chief objective of the club is good sportsmanship.

THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough save up their money to take a trip to Europe. They are nineteen. On the ship they have an exciting adventure with a stowaway, mistake the leader of the ship's band for an admiral and meet two handsome young medical students. As the ship is nearing port, Cornelia feels sick. The medical students diagnose the trouble—measles. It requires all of Cornelia's make-up skill to get by the inspection. In Paris, they sleep in a bed that Cardinal Richelieu once slept in and they try to persuade a great French actor to give them acting lessons.

After a lovely summer, they leave Paris for home with a twinge of sadness at the thought that it's all over and they will never be nineteen again.

The boys and girls in high school today have many opportunities to speak before audiences, large or small.

In Edmunds High School students are called upon to take part in panel discussions, to speak over public address, to appear on radio programs, and to take charge of assemblies. In a limited way, they participate in the affairs of the school through homeroom discussions and student council debate. At election time all candidates for school offices make campaign speeches.

This year Tony Bowman, Lad Boyle, and Jack Chandler entered the American Legion Oratorical Contest. They wrote and delivered speeches on the Constitution, which was an excellent experience for them. Jack won the school, district, and area contests.

The commencement speeches, on the future security of our freedoms, were also written by the students and delivered on graduation night to a packed house.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

PLAYS

During Education Week this year an American History group presented at assembly a play, "Beachhead for Freedom" setting forth the hopes and ideals of the postwar world. "The Girl from Brazil," a dramatics club production, was given on Pan-American Day. This play emphasized the importance of good will toward our neighboring Americans.

MUSIC

The Thanksgiving and Christmas programs were the two religious programs of the year. These were largely musical since music is most suitable for a sacred program. There were also a band concert and a concert by the mixed chorus, both of which came in the spring.

SPEAKERS

Cedric Foster, the noted news commentator

was one of our assembly speakers again this year. He emphasized the fact that our only security was of the brain, and that we must understand issues and act in unity to protect freedom and liberty. John J. Riley, U. S. Congressman, was another. He gave the students a better understanding of our national affairs by answering questions and commenting on topics raised.

MISCELLANEOUS

Besides these, there were literary programs such as the delightful library program pictured below, and programs showing the work of the various departments of the school, as well as a few of a lighter vein, all of them highly enjoyable.

CHORUS GLEE CLUB, BAND

GIRLS' CHORUS

GIRLS' CHORUS AND BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Chorus is composed of more than sixty members, who are interested in singing good music.

This year the chorus took part in several assembly programs. The outstanding performance of the year was their Christmas Cantata in which the nine boys who make up the Boys Glee Club participated, creating the mixed chorus.

The boys in the Glee Club did splendid work this year. They were called upon to sing in church and elsewhere outside of school on a number of occasions.

Both clubs met three times a week for practice. Their program of music was broad. It included singing, study of music appreciation and music theory.

THE BAND

The marching band of Edmunds High School played for all of the football games in Sumter and for many of the out-of-town games. It had the honor of leading all of the local parades, such as the Iris Festival, and Shaw Field Anniversaries. It accepted several out-of-town invitations, winning honorable mention in a parade of bands from all over the state.

The concert band, with thirty-six members, plays for all assembly programs and for all other entertainments pertaining to school activities, such as the Senior Play, the Junior Senior, and the Spring Festival. This band gave during the school year two one hour concerts at assembly, which were thoroughly enjoyed by both the school and a host of visitors.

PIANO

BETTY RAY EVANS, Piano

Betty Ray studied piano under the direction of Mrs. J. S. Buck. During her four years in high school she played in several orchestras, was a member of the Glee Club, and took part in several musical plays. She was also a member of the piano club at Trinity Methodist Church. Betty Ray plans to enter a music college in the fall of 1921 at Fairleigh College.

The 1917-18 staff of the Sumter High News published, as was customary, fifteen issues of the paper. In order to finance the High News this year a campaign was launched at the beginning of school for 100% subscriptions in all homerooms. At both assembly and homeroom meetings the staff advertised their wares so successfully that every student in school paid for a year's subscription and from that point on the staff could breathe easy and just write copy. Miss Heery's homeroom was the first to subscribe 100% and all members were given tickets to a picture show as a reward.

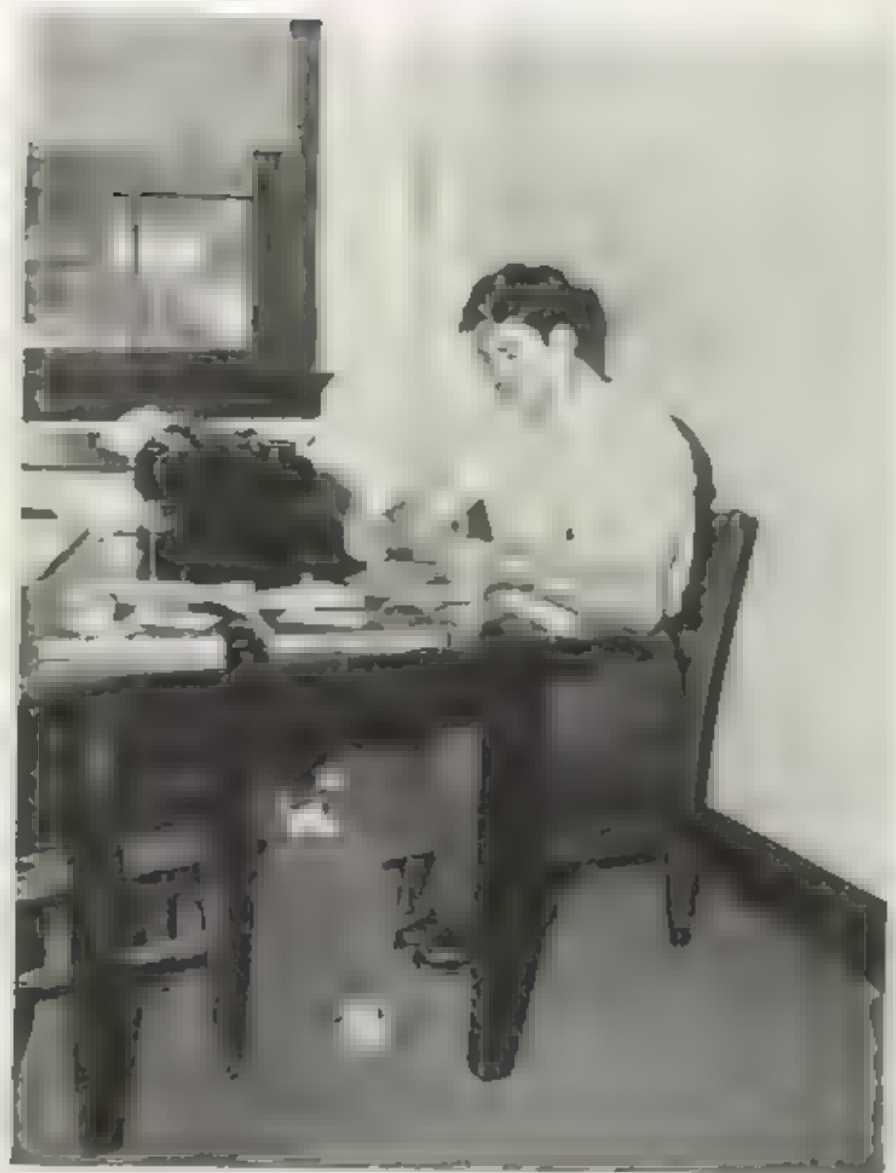

Miss Susie Oster, literary adviser, and Shirley Green, pro editor, attended the South Carolina Scholastic Press Association held in Greenville on April 22 and 23. They came back full of inspiration and new ideas and talk of "a good time had by all."

Sumter High News is a member of the National Scholastic Press Association as well as the S. C. S. P. A. The staff has high hopes that they may be able to attend the national convention another year.
